Leading landscape architects and garden designers share their thoughts on the changing face of the Australian garden in the 21st century.

GARDEN ARCHITECT

Scott Leung, Eckersley Garden Architecture, Melbourne. By responding sympathetically to the architecture and working the design around existing trees, Melbourne designer Scott Leung created a garden with an instant sense of belonging. ABOVE. Taking into account the flexible needs of a young family, it is designed for low maintenance, minimal water usage and maximum effect. >
